GLASTONBURY FESTIVAL
of Contemporary Performing Arts

22-23-24 June 1990
Worthy Farm, Pilton

▲ INTRODUCTION ▲

It is twenty years since the first festival at Worthy Farm. 12,000 refugees from the cities came looking for another way to live, and eat at the free food kitchen provided by Jean Shrimpton's generosity.

The seeds of the Green movement were sown in the minds of that generation as they embraced a simpler life closer to the land, albeit for just a few long Solstice days. Two decades later, ecology has become the watchword of the age.

This year our Green Field will encompass 60 acres — windmills, solar power, exotic markets, workshops and debates will combine to speed the long-awaited greening of the nation. At last mainstream politicians have grasped the reality of the environmental crisis. At Glastonbury the Green Party will promote a massive project to recycle the Festival's rubbish, a positive demonstration of practical ecology.

Last year's triumph at the Edinburgh Festival, the sensational 50-strong French circus troupe 'Archaos', will close the show each night on the Pyramid stage, and will also perform in the Circus field with other world-famous acts. Further developing the change of policy begun last year, the Festival's entertainment is now dominated by the 500+ acts appearing in the Theatre and Circus fields. Five bands representing a cross-section of high-quality music will appear daily on the Pyramid stage between the hours of 10am and 10.30pm. Parents visiting the event can relax in the knowledge that their children are being well cared-for and amused in the much-loved Children's area.

We are sorry that ever-increasing costs (including £6 a head charged for on-site police, fire and safety requirements) have forced us to raise the ticket price to £38 (incl. VAT). As usual, children under 14 are admitted free of charge.

✪ THEATRE & CIRCUS ✪

A circus Big Top and an outside circus stage will host a whole range of circus acts from slack wire artistes and clowns to contortionists and acrobats. There will be a freefall machine and trapeze for you to try for yourself (if you dare!), and a workshop marquee, which will host participation workshops in juggling, unicycling, stilt-walking and other circus skills. High wire acts, trampoline, and both static and swinging trapeze artistes will perform death-defying stunts; while itinerant unicyclists, stilt-walkers and other circus performers will amuse and entertain you. Last year was our first year of circus and a fine start was made. This year's addition of the wild and wonderful Archaos will make things even finer.

In the theatre field 2 huge tented venues will host cabaret and the best of serious mime/theatre/dance performances. An outside stage, workshop marquee, weird and wonderful sculptures, strange events and the best of Britain and Europe's street performance groups will make this a wonderful area to be in.

✪ GREENFIELD ✪

Individual souls are to be given a safe place once again where they will be able to celebrate their survival on this battered earth. A space where they won't need to feel ashamed of being sensitive, nor fear being ridiculed for being real. A beautiful flower-festooned space where healing vibes will encourage vibrant contact between eager minds. On this sixty acre open space, in sun-swamped Somerset, revolutionaries of the creative spirit will be able to meet and embrace new strategies for greening and giving meaning to the human earth. Yea, you Warriors of the Rainbow, the Glastonbury Green Field Celebration calls you to appear at this year's summer solstice.

The Green Field area of the Glastonbury Festival is going to be mighty bigger than ever before. It will be run by a co-operative of like-minds, whose collective aim is to create a loving colourful environment where all will feel free to be themselves, will feel free to be the sensitive souls we really are, so come and participate in the tipi magic, fireside philosophy and Red Indian chanting, bender exotica and moonlight dancing, hugging, thinking, listening and laughing. Come and be the meaning of this outrageous event.

✪ ONE EARTH ARTS VILLAGE ✪

The year is 1990. We are in to the Green Decade and One Earth Arts will once again work closely with the Greens at Glastonbury to promote International Arts with a powerful Green message. Concentrating on participation events, workshops and acoustic performances, the One Earth Arts Village will offer a uniquely different experience by creating the common ground where we can meet as equals and share the magic of the moment. We will paint, weave, dance, play, sculpt, sing, eat and drink to a different drum.

✪ MUSIC ✪

As always, a vast presentation of Music's best, but this time on three stages, covering world music, acoustic folk, calypso, dance and pop.

✪ CHILDRENS WORLD ✪

A Children's Festival within the Festival for children of all ages. Non-stop play from 9 am to 7 pm every day, with a large adventure playground, giant inflatables, swing boats, chairoplanes, space tumbler and donkey rides. Two theatre venues with continuous performances, workshops covering and enormous variety of activities, and a safe, fenced-in under-sixes area complete with its own mini-playground and inflatables.

✪ STALLS ✪

An exotic, colourful and exciting array of stalls is now a major part of the event. There are five trading areas, spread across all parts of the site, each one offering its own unique combination of foods, clothes and a wealth of interesting items to browse through and buy. If you have something interesting or unusual to sell, please write for full details, application form and prices, to:– Glastonbury Festival (Stalls), Worthy Farm, Pilton, Shepton Mallet, Somerset, BA4 4BY. Tel: (074989) 254/470 Fax: (074989) 285. Please enclose a large S.A.E. with your application. Please note: All food stalls have been allocated.

✪ SITE ACCESS ✪

Because of the ever growing numbers of early arrivals it has become necessary to maintain a reliable perimeter fence and it will not be open until Wednesday noon before which time no one but traders will be allowed in. This year there will be more car parking off-site where no camping will be allowed, but a shuttle bus service (every 15 mins.) will be running to and from the main site.

✪ DOGS ✪

For their own sake and for hygiene dogs will not be allowed on site this year.

✪ GETTING TO THE SITE ✪

The site is in the village of Pilton, on the A361 between Glastonbury and Shepton Mallet. Approach via the M4/M5: exit at jnct. 23 (M5). Then follow the A39 through Glastonbury. From there the route is clearly signposted. If travelling by rail, the nearest station is Castle Cary, and there is a regular coach service to and from the site. There are also Badgerline coaches from Bristol and Bath.

✪ NEWS ✪

The good news: congratulations to 3 of our security organisers from Wolverhampton Martial Arts who won 4 gold medals for Judo at this year's Commonwealth Games.

The bad news: the Festival was fined £2,000 for not attaching a wristband to one person's wrist — more than all the pollution fines made against ICI in the whole of 1989.

☎ INFOLINE ☎

The INFO line is now open providing up to the minute information on performers, travel to and from the Festival site and ticket details: INFO line 0898-400888*.

*Calls charged at 38p per min. peak — 25p per min. off-peak.
